Davis is walking home from a long day at work.

As he is about to leave to referee his local basketball game he hears something break.

He disregards and continues on his journey.

His roommate takes it among himself to log on to the Fixx it app and request some fixing

The maintenance man arrives and fixes the stove that was broken.

After a rough night at the game he comes with eyes with tears of joy to see that he can cook on the stove that was broken thanks to his roommate.

John Johnson is getting pissy about his fridge in his dorm constantly leaking water, and he thinks he can fix it himself.

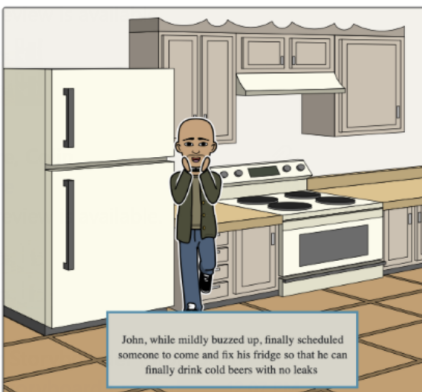

John got to work immediately on the fridge, but he had no luck fixing it.

John got extremely frustrated and decided to quit trying and get himself a beer.

John got sad after his beer and threw the can, he then ran to get his phone and use his new app, Fixx.

John, while mildly buzzed up, finally scheduled someone to come and fix his fridge so that he can finally drink cold beers with no leaks.

Johns fridge was fixed the next day due to Fixx's amazing customer service. He celebrated with a beer.
